NODA Review

This is a well constructed story of the goings on backstage at a pantomime with some very funny dialogue. The central characters are two Pantomime Dames one of who's pasts catches up with him in an unexpected way. This was a very entertaining production with plenty of action and sharp dialogue. Once again the Club made use of excellent costumes and set. Congratulations to the Club and the show's directors Sara Stickland and Mark Stannett. [\[more\]](#)
