Production Notes

This production was dedicated to the memory of John "Jock" Halley, who was a great fan of Kathy Kirby.

About the Production

At the time of the production the play was still a work in progress. New Stagers was extremely fortunate to be given permission by the play's author to perform the work, and was only the third group to do so. The play was subsequently rewritten and published under the title "Something To Remember You By".
