Synopsis

Mrs Miller, overworked and undermotivated proprietor of the Mill, and supplier of bread and cakes to the Royal Palace, is a desperate woman. Short of money, she plans to ask for a pay rise. But the Kingdom is penniless. Robbed by the evil Witch of the Woods and her cohorts, King Pomegranate faces ruin.

The Kingdom's only product is straw. The stuff is everywhere, but is worthless. Mrs Miller, in a moment of madness, and prompted by the promise of a reward, claims that her daughter Milly can spin straw into gold. Unfortunately, Milly can't. But a strange and sinister elf certainly can, and when he appears and turns the straw into gold, he wants just one thing in return – Milly's first-born child. Milly has one chance to save her baby from the clutches of the elf. She has just twenty-four hours to guess the elf's name. What could it possibly be?

See the cowardly Mrs Miller and her brave and true children take on the evil elf and the wicked Witch of the Woods in an all-new show with mostly old jokes! See a King in turmoil! See royal debauchery! Hear things that go 'parp' in the night! Be a part of 'Rumpelstiltskin', the new Pantomime for January 2008!!
